

944 Spare Parts Galore from 2 parts cars

Posted by Litespeeds - 17 Jun 2008 13:23

Shawn, who I have known for about 2 years, is parting out a couple of 944's. He has many different parts as listed in the Craigslist ad below, as well as every thing else.

I am having him drive some wheels to me and deliver them to Auto Point Motors so if anyone wants any parts, please contact:

He does accept Paypal payment but you will have to work out the details with him. I am just the middle man trying to save everyone time and gas money.

He might has some goodies like a manual steering rack. Just have to ask him and I am sure he will sell you the parts pretty cheap.

Sid - I want take the rear axles from the '83. I'll contact him and pay him with paypal. Maybe he can drop them off with your wheels and I can get them from you?

Are you sure you don't want the engine? I think Jerry wants it if you pass on it. Let me know asap. Thanks.

Hey Jeremy,

Shawn is going to bring 2 rear axles to Art's and he said you can look at them and if you decide to buy them, then he will sell them for $70 for the pair. Guess you can Paypal him or however you guys worked it out. I'm just the middleman trying to organize the delivery. I will leave them at Arts so you can contact Art to pick them up.

How about the steering? Are any of them factory manual? If so, count me in! If not, I might need a new rack and pump anyway.
