

Who's going to Llihrednuht this month?

Most of us don't really like to run Thunderhill backwards because of several reasons but this time it seems that the PRC is going to be there so that means we don't have to run with the crowded Group A.

Just curious as to see who might consider going for this race on May 22nd. I wasn't planning on going but the wife kind of gave me the green light if I want to.

I'm planning to go. Hope we can get a reasonable turnout.

I may go. I was planning on going to Buttonwillow with PCA but I need two more weekends to qualify for nationals so I will probably do this weekend to be safe.

Backwards isn't that bad, there's just no exit curbs so when you are pushing you end up running off into the dirt.

I'm thinking probably not. That's the weekend right before the big end-of-the-year field trip for the students. Plus, I'm thinking I want to save up the money for other events.
