

Laguna Recap SoCal/NoCal

Posted by capt squid - 01 Aug 2014 08:10

Fun weekend racing with the NoCal group.

Aubie wrote a good story which you and read in the news section of 944spec.org.

You can see my videos of Sat and Sun at www.youtube.com/squidmobile1

Re: Laguna Recap SoCal/NoCal

Posted by Atteberry - 05 Aug 2014 18:06

Sorry Jim but checked my video and white with red cross flag at start finish and at outside flag stand just after turn 1 which also has a standing yellow. The inside flag stand just before turn 2 has a waving yellow. The inside stand yellow happens first lap of E30 spin the outside stand yellow and white with red cross appears to next lap I came around. Also note that one first lap of spin I can see emergency vehicle in pit out onto track and standing yellow at start finish.

I would post my video but after crappy start and the middle of a sandwich in turn 2 the rest is just me chasing Jim Richmond. I never could get around him. Great racing Jim R. and sorry about the DQ for Jim H. you were fast nice racing.

Re: Laguna Recap SoCal/NoCal

Posted by jivenjim - 17 Aug 2014 09:24

Thanks for the really nice compliments.

Officially they pushed me back to last place Sun rather than DQ after review. I still keep win on Sat.

Official said I had no options other than lap Jason cause of my over take speed and yellow flag was not thrown till I was almost past station and already in Max Brake. Jason was just being respectful yielding and didn't think he did anything wrong. Picture shows clearly that no yellow out, only emergency Vech flag. But Rules say I passed under yellow.

So off course everyone behind will see a waiving yellow, since they just started. (the group was about 5 seconds behind me)

I watched the video tons more times and still think I could not of done it different. Especially note when I am max breaking to when you first see turn 2 yellow.

Video clip: (29 seconds)

youtu.be/TGiVbpPAHec

Official Result attached.

Once again awesome racing guys and gal.

Look forward to seeing everyone at Nationals.
