1986 944 na (good basis for a 944 spec/44cup car) Posted by vasteve - 22 Feb 2008 11:57

PO replaced radiator before I got it.

I'm selling this car because I am planning to move up to an S2 for DE. I think this would be a perfect car for 944 Spec or Cup., all the maintenance is DONE., including rod bearings. The car is in Northern

| Virginia and I DE it regularly at Summit Point. It's currently street legal and I'm happy to work any arrangements to deliver it. |
|---|
| Here's some info on the carI have more info on all the little stuff done if you'd need it. |
| 1986 944 n/a |
| Set up for the track. |
| |
| Engine: |
| No engine mods have been done to make it illegal for 44cup or Spec. |
| odo doesn't work, but approximately 80K on 2nd engine - replaced due to spun #2 bearing (second engine was from an automatic, so it was probably lovingly driven) 176K on odo (probably 180) |
| Installed: lindsey racing pan baffle and oil pick up collar |
| New rod bearings. |
| Oil temperature gauge |
| 951 oil cooler |
| Belts redone/tensioned approximately 4K miles ago |
| New water pump and all seals (balance shaft, oil cooler, RMS, etc) |
| All new vacuum tubing |
| replaced all cooling hoses. |
| injectors cleaned by IMA |
| new battery |
| |

1/3

944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing

Generated: 6 December, 2025, 12:06

Suspension: Koni yellows all around 26mm turbo bar up from 18 mm in rear. KLA/serge944 droplinks Replaced all rubber bushings in front with OEM rubber (not on rear) Strut bar Track alignment done by ASG I have 30mm T bars and 425# springs/collars and polygraphite and delrin bushings I haven't installed yet. (may include to make a deal) Brakes: Redone brake lines (I have braided ones, I just never put them on) New street pads (3 events) newish pf-97s (6? events) Calipers cleaned up but not rebuilt (planned to this winter) New rotors (9 events) (you don't use the brakes much in a 944) New front wheel bearings Trans: clutch 30K ago (inspected when the engine was replaced) plenty of life Probably should swap 1/2 shafts side to side Inside: momo wheel Corbeau Forza seats

944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing

Generated: 6 December, 2025, 12:06

Replaced shifter boot

A/c broken and I threw half of the parts away (a/c delete bracket)

Sunroof gears broken, I converted to manual sunroof

Cheapo Blaupunt radio with Aux in for ipod, xm, etc.

Clock works, needs bulb

Various spares I can include to seal a deal.

Paint is faded....not a show car.

$6000/neg

PM me here or Rennlist (same name)