1983944 For Sale in Orlando

Posted by Ori27-26 May 2009 02:50

I have a 1983 Porsche 944 that would be the perfect Spec 944 base car-

I literally found this car in a barn, and am in the process of cleaning it up.

What I can tell at this point is that the car has a cracked windshield, and the carpet and seat(s) are no good.

There was a receipt in the glovebox from a local Porsche shop that reflects $$ 973$ in engine work, which included:
â $¢$ ¢ Disassemble engine front
$\hat{a} \square ¢$ Replace seals and sleeves for camshaft, balance shafts, and crank shaft.
$\hat{a} \square \subset$ Install new cam and balance shaft belts, set tensions.
$\widehat{a} \square ¢$ Replace slotted roller for balance belt.
â $\subset$ © Replace water pump and NAD thermostat.

Additionally, the shop noted:
$\hat{a} \square \Phi$ No output from charging system
$\widehat{a} \square ¢$ Needs vacuum lines at fuel pressure regulator â $¢$ Brakes frozen
â $\square$ ¢ Needs front stabilizer bar
$\hat{a} \square ¢$ Needs engine mounts
$\hat{a} \square ¢$ Pan gasket wet at corners
$\hat{a} \square ¢$ Needs bottom left radiator mount

944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing

The car appears to be otherwise solid, and would convert to a Spec 944 very easily.

The car has no title but I am the legal owner. I will provide a complete bill of sale.

The car is located in Orlando, FL.

I will be cleaning it up and posting more information about it as I go. I will formally put it up for sale late this week, but if anyone wants to make an offer or ask questions in the meantime please call me at 407.415.1900.

Thanks
