Looking for some known good lifters. I have one that I can depress the button on. Willing to buy a few or a set if need be.

Anyone out there have just 1 known good lifter they can sell me? I need to have my car back together by Thursday because the Army is moving me again and I'd rather not have to push it up on the trailer. All but one of my lifters bench test good.

If not, are 944 Turbo lifters the same? I have found several used sets on ebay that I am bound to find one good one out of. I'm also guessing there's no way to take these apart?

Ag, email me, and I can put you in touch with someone who has a few sets.

I ended up getting some 2nd day from Lart just in time to get my head back from the shop. Didn't matter as I still had to push the car on the trailer for the move. First the radiator sprung a leak, then the clutch wouldn't work.

Thanks for the offer Eric. I was the one that emailed you last week about head gaskets and lifters.

As an additional note, I now have 7 apparently good used lifters if anyone needs them.
