We've got an three hour enduro comming up in November...I know its not the 24hs of LeMans but its going to take a pit stop and therefor some kind of pit strategy...

Haven't closed if it will involve a driver change yet, but what you guys have done in the past? (that worked...)

The cans are illegal for the WERC series because they are actually 6 gallon cans. They call them 5 gal cans but the ad you posted say they hold 6.

Yeah it's easy just drive 95% for 3 hrs and you will be the winner. Happens all the time.

So, 26 gallons is 3 hours? Everybody think that a 944 does about 8 and a bit gallons per hour? I'm thinking of the 9 hour enduro in Road Atlanta this Dec.
