Hi Joe, I was looking for clarifications to the dash board rules # 16.2.2

I am looking at installing a Mychron gauge and it will replace all my factory gauges. Can I remove the complete dash panel/board and instrument cluster and just use a flat sheetmetal panel to cover wiring and such?

Does said panel have to be full width of car?

Can it just be on the drivers side?

Anyone have pics of their modified dash they will share?

Thanks,

I can't comment on the rules but the way I read it was that any replacement dash is legal. I've seen some people use fiberglass dashes like this:
